

Affective Statement Activity

Formulate an affective statement to respond to each situation:

- You see a student push another student out of the way so that they can get into their locker.
- A student is making fun of another student during lunch and you overhear it.
- A student is on their phone as you are giving the class directions on an assignment.
- A student is asking thoughtful questions during a lesson.
- A parent you have been trying to connect with for weeks calls you back.
- A student shows up all week on time for virtual school.
- A parent reaches out for support with their child.
- You witness another staff member yelling at a student in a disrespectful manner in the hall during passing period.
- A student is patiently helping another student figure out an assignment.
- A staff member is gossiping about another staff member.
- You find out you are going back to full time in-person instruction.
