Language as Liberation and Trauma Sensitive Learning Environments
Trauma Sensitive Learning Environment

- Understanding trauma or adverse childhood experiences and the impact they have on learning and human development
- Reframing academic challenges and student misbehaviors so that staff can provide safe spaces and support instead of punishment for challenging behaviors
- Supporting the development of an emotionally and physically safe environment for the individual
- Building positive relationships can foster healing and recovery from trauma
Radical Healing: Collective Well Being in Response to Conditions of Justice

- Radical Healing: a process that builds the capacity of people to act upon their environment in ways that contribute to their well-being for the common good.

- Suffering (Permanent condition of injustice): sense of powerlessness, loss of hope, internalized oppression

- Surviving (Persistent conditions of injustice): adaptation to circumstances, navigating conditions, acceptance of status quo

- Challenging (Promising conditions of justice): critical consciousness, collective action, rejection of status quo, sense of collective power and hope

- Thriving (Optimal conditions of justice): control of life, collective power, pursuit of dreams, collective responsibility, sense of collective peace
Shawn Ginwright’s Conditions of Justice
CARMA: Elements of Radical Healing

- Culture: serves to connect young people to a racial and ethnic identity that is historically grounded and relevant
- Agency: individual and collective ability to act in order to create desired outcomes and transform external conditions
- Relationships: capacity to create, sustain, and grow healthy connections with others
- Meaning: discovering our purpose, and building awareness of our role in advancing justice
- Achievement: illuminates life’s possibilities and acknowledges movement toward goals

Audre Lorde on Language as Liberation

Reflections

1. What are the words you do not yet have?
2. What do you need to say?
3. What are the tyrannies you swallow day by day and attempt to make your own, until you will sicken and die of them, still in silence?

“I speak these words in an attempt to break the silence and bridge some of those differences between us, for it is not difference which immobilizes us, but silence.” — Audre Lorde

The Management of Time Devotion
In Community Building Circles
Rationalization is a dominant trend in modern society; a way of approaching all areas of life that relies on calculation, efficiency, problem solving, and goal-directed behavior; decreasing reliance on tradition, values, and feelings for guiding action.
Being Calculative, Efficient, and Strategic

Time

- Water
- Sand
- Celestial Bodies

• Pendulums
• Wristwatches
• Atomic Clocks
Being Rational VS Being Restorative

Being:
1) Calculative
2) Efficient
3) Strategic

Sets the stage for a decreased reliance on:
1) Tradition
2) Values
3) Feelings
LEH 351 – Rituals

Assignments
- Explorations (Circles and Collaborative Teams)
- New Learning

Circles
- Mindful Exercises
- Affirmations
- Check in
- Reflections
- Support
LEH 351 – Values

Assignments
• Give light to Social Justice issues based in Restorative Justice

Circles
• Talking piece
• Speaking form the “I”
• Being real
• Respecting others truth
LEH 351 – Acknowledgment of Feelings

Assignments

• Exploring topics students feel are relevant to their life experience

Circles

• Mindful Exercises
• Affirmations
• Check in
• Reflections
• Support
Time Usage In LEH 351

The Class is 2.5 hours and is divided between the Circle and Assignment needs:

- Mindful Exercises = 4-5 mins
- Affirmations = 3-5 mins
- Check in = 30-35 mins
- Explorations (Circles and Collaborative Teams) = 30
- Shorty community game: 20mins
- New Learning = 1 hour
  - Reflections = The Rest of the time
Time Management

- Calculative
- Efficient
- Strategic

\[ \text{Time Devotion} \leq \]

- Tradition
- Values
- Feelings
Time and Learned Experiences

- As a Circle Participant with Time (In Relation to Restorative Justice and Punitive Action)
- As a Teaching Assistant with Time (In Relation to Intentional Community Building)
